Invitation to Academic Awards and Exhibition at COP28 in Dubai

Sarah Ali <sarah.ali@prototypesforhumanity.com>

Wed 6/21/2023 2:24 PM

To:IRDCMU <irdcmu@cmu.ac.th>

Dear Team,

Following my previous email about the Prototypes for Humanity exhibition at COP28 (where we will showcase 100 top innovations from universities around the world), I am happy to share the latest updates about our programme taking place in Dubai this December.

To further recognise talent from across our community, we are pleased to announce the 2023 Awards - $100,000 in prizes to leading students and professors whose research addresses key COP28 themes, across 5 categories:

- Nature, Food, and Water systems
- Health, Relief and Safety
- Energy, Efficiency and Waste
- Education, Equality and Communities
- Data science and AI-enabled solutions (across all themes above)

This year we have a truly unique opportunity to showcase the power and outcomes of academic research, to global decision-makers, commentators, and businesses. We are very much looking forward to receiving applications from Chiang Mai University.

As always, applying through our portal is very simple, and I am happy and to answer any questions you may have.

With my best wishes,
Sarah

Sarah Ali
University Relations

T +971 4 563 1423
M +971 54 514 9393

PROTOTYPES FOR HUMANITY